Figure S1. Search times as a function of the distance between the current target and the mean of previous distractor distribution (CT-PD) split by test and prime distributions in Experiment 2. Panels show the fitted loess functions for the streaks of different length. Grey areas show 95% confidence intervals of the fitted functions.